There are six regional holidays which are fixed for a year & may vary from one location to other. From Date	To Date	Accrual
January 1	February 1	Earned Leave accrual will occur for February since the number of LOP days is less than fifteen (15) days
January 31	March 1	Earned Leave accrual will occur for January and March since the number of LOP days is less than fifteen (15) days in those months
January 16	March 15	Earned Leave accrual will not happen for January & February since LOP days is more than fifteen (15) days and accrual would be provided for March

- Earned Leave will be accrued for an Associate on Notice Period.

- If an Associate joins after 15th of a month, there would not be any leave credit for that month. For example, if an Associate has joined work on 16th of April, Associate will not be entitled to leave credit for April.
- Associates must raise a request for leave through the Enterprise Absence Management System (EAMS) at least a week before their vacation and obtain their home manager's approval.
- Encashment of Earned Leave:
 - The primary option is to adjust Earned Leave balance against the Notice Period (NP) at BU's discretion. Earned Leave balance as on the date of resignation will be considered for this purpose.
 - The remaining Earned Leave balance available as of the last working day (LWD), will be considered for encashment on the last drawn basic pay.
 - Encashment of leave will be processed as part of Full and Final settlement.
 - Notice Period adjustment eligibility and sum eligible for encashment, based on the number of available Earned Leave (EL) balance at the time of separation:

Scenario	Eligibility for Notice Period adjustment	Sum eligible for encashment
Earned Leave balance as of the date of resignation is ≥ 7 days and Earned Leave balance (post NP adjustment) as on the LWD is < 7 days or Earned Leave balance as of the date of resignation is < 7 days and Earned Leave balance (post NP adjustment) as on the LWD is ≥ 7 days or Earned Leave balance as of the date of resignation is ≥ 7 days and Earned Leave balance (post NP adjustment) as on the LWD is ≥ 7 days	Yes	$[(\text{No. of available EL as on LWD} \times 7/5) - (\text{EL adjusted in NP})] \times [\text{Last drawn Annual Basic} / 365]$
Earned Leave balance as of the date of resignation is < 7 days and Earned Leave balance (post-NP adjustment) as on the LWD is < 7 days	Yes	$[\text{No. of available EL post adjusting with the NP as on the LWD}] \times [\text{Last drawn Annual Basic} / 365]$
